

Mediation Centre

1. Brief Description :

Mediation is a process in which an important third party-mediator-facilitates the resolution of a dispute by promoting amicable agreement between the parties to the dispute. It's a non-binding negotiation process, in which a neutral third person facilitates the disputes in arriving at a mutually acceptable settlement.

a) Mediation Centre: The Mediation and Conciliation Cell is situated in newly constructed ADR Centre in District Courts, Kurukshetra. It consists of three separate cabins for mediation. The cabins are made sound proof in order to ensure confidentiality.

b) Process of Mediation: The Mediation centre maintains a panel of trained mediators who mediate between the parties to a litigation to arrive at an amicable settlement. The parties can move application before the concerned court for referring the case for Mediation. The mediator controls the process through which parties arrive at their settlement. The entire process is confidential.

c) Models of Mediation: Mainly three types of mediation models are being followed in India which are as follows:

i) Commercial Mediation (business disputes, legal disputes, insurance disputes)

ii) Community Mediation (community disputes, neighbor / neighbor disputes, relationship disputes)

iii) Family Mediation (family disputes, divorce, custody, child support, visitation)

2. Description about the methodology of availing this facility :

The parties interested to mediate may apply to the concerned court to refer the matter to Mediation Centre.
